The IB Transdisciplinary Themes

These are 6 themes that organise the delivery of the Subjects.

Transdisciplinary Approach

Our teaching approach is a combination of 3 different approaches. The most common lessons are Transdisciplinary where we will teach concepts and outcomes from multiple subjects through 1 learning experience.

For example;

A survey about how we travel to school involves;

- English communication skills to write & ask questions.
- Maths to tally and represent the data we collect
- Social Studies to analyse the data to make conclusions about different transport systems used in our community.

Intradisciplinary

Multidisciplinary

Transdisciplinary

Not that tasty.....

No opportunity to show understanding of concepts or a central idea across disciplines (Subjects).

Multiple Ingredients. No mixing required.
Still teaching lessons as individual subjects, but addressing the same Theme.
Limited opportunity to show understanding of a concept or central idea across disciplines (subjects).

Multiple ingredients. Mixing, folding & cooking required.
Using a central theme to teach learning experiences and inquiries that require learners to use knowledge and skills from multiple subjects.
Students are required to use multiple disciplines (subjects) to show understanding of a concept or central idea.

very, very tasty!
